The Nerve of a Horse Thief.

Collinsville, by J. A. Owens, to whom the seller represented himself as a horse trader. A few hours later Owens loarned that he had bought a stolen horse, and word was sent in all directions, with minute descriptions of the thief.

Police Chief Barnsback of Edwards-ville, suspected that the thief was headed towards his town, and told John West, the local liveryman, to keep a sharp lookout for him West was furnished a good description of the fugitive and promised to "keep his eye peeled."

A day or so later Wilkins, who had formerly worked for West, blew into town and put up at the home of his friend. West entertailined him with true Edwardsville hospitality and told him about the man he was looking for. Wilkins seemed interested and said the thief must be pretty smooth to escape capture in such a populous community. He even went so far as to offer to help watch for the culprit, and took notes from the memorandum that West carried in his pocket for reference.

After three days Wilkins bade his former employer adden and told him he was going up to Gid Ripley, a nearby village, to visit his folks.

The next day Gwens, the victim, had business in Edwardsville, and called on West. They talked over the theft, and Gwens gave a complete verbal description of the thief. Then West woke up

The next step was a telegram to the sheriff of Bond county, and within a few hours word came back that Wilkins had been arrested at Old Ripley.

When the prisoner was brought back to Edwardsville and thrown in jail West called on him. Wilkins smilingly confessed that he was the man wanted and complimented the caller of his astuteness. He said, furthermore, that this was his first experience at horse stealing and that he did not wonder that the business had thrived so in recent years. His manner implied that he thought the Madison county officials "dead easy,

FORECAST OF ELECTION

[Continued From First Page.] Republicans say they are hopeful in two districts, the Second and Third, indica-tions point to excellent weather in the Interest in New Orleans is largely confined to the result in other states. The city vote will fall considerably short of that cast in the municipal election last November, when it reached nearly 34,000.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 5.—Chairman John T. Ailey of the Democratic state committee has closed the state head-quarters in this city and gone to his home in Lancaster to look after the expected Democratic gains in the northern part of the state. Senator Gallinger, chairman of the Republican state committee, will close the campaign with a speech at Lebanon tonight. Sunday brought no new developments in the situation.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The election of 1900 in Kansas is at hand, the campaign closes without a single reference, by either of the parties contest. The Democratic state ticket is interested, to the subject of railroad leg-islation, for so many years the "para-mount issue" in this state.

For a quarter of a century the poli-ticians have been promising "relief" to those who allows extention and treefet.

GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5.—More interest is being shown by the voters of Georgia in the result of the general election in other states than in their own state. The result being in no doubt, it is probable the vote throughout the IN counties will be light. Many votes for Bryan will be cast as a matter of pride than "maximum rates." This was killed by a legislature controlled by the party advocating it.

Then came a demand for legislation. In response to which Governor Leedy, two years ago, after being defeated for re-slection, convened the legislature in special session. The law, secured at an expense of $85,000 has since been declared will be spared to see that every available voter is brought to the polis. FORECASTS

MISSISSIPPL

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 5.—From a total registration of about 140,000 it is expected that between 70,000 and 80,000 votes will be polled and the Democratic management of the polled and the Democratic management. Jority over all is expected to be from 50,000 to 60,000. The weather is clear and and crisp and it is feared that the danger of frost will keep many farmers in the cotton fields tomorrow.

VERMONT. White River Junction, Vt., Nov. 5.—In this state neither political party has made any special effort for votes, every citizen being left to decide for himself whether he shall vote for the Democratic or Republican candidates. With good weather the vote tomorrow will be up to the average in presidential election

MAINE.

Portland, Me., Nov. 5.—In Maine as usual the only question is as to how large the Republican majority will be and even this matter pparently does not and even this matter apparently does not great extent. A quiet uneventful election day is expected.

OREGON.

Charles Wilkins, now in jail at Edwardsville, fil., a confessed horsethief, spent the three days prior to his arrest as the guest of John West, a liveryman of that town, who had been looking for him everywhere but at home.

For downright audacity and out-and-out "nerve." Wilkins' performance caps anything ever done in this section of the country; there are some who favor setting him free, on the ground that it's a shame to confine such genius behind bars. ovote and present than to its entitled to vote and present them to the judges of election. This procedure, it is claimed, will keep at least 15,000 voters away from the polls. The registration for the June election was 100,206. The chairman of the Republican state committee claims that McKinley will receive at concede the state to the Republicans,

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 5.-Notwith-Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 5.—Notwithstanding the vigorous campaign which has been waged in this state by the Democrats there is a decided apathy among the campaigners today. Every county of the state has been actively canvassed and it is said 200,000 people have been addressed by the various candidates. It is estimated that Bryan will carry the state by 20,000. The Democrats claim that the Nebraskan's cousin, William S. Jennings, will be elected gov-William S. Jennings, will be elected gov-ernor by a like majority.

NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 5.—The campaign in this state has been active, both Roosevelt and Bryan being heard, and both parties are hopeful. The Democrats, however, do not claim all three electors, hoping for so close a vote as to give them part. The Republicans are more sanguine, claiming a sure Republican majority of eight or ten thousand.

ARKANSAS.

Little Rock, Ark, Nov. 5.—The Democratic campaign committees have been appointed in a number of Arkansas counties to get out the full party vote temorrow. At Democratic state head-quarters today the reports point to an unusually large vote.

ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 5.—Interest in the general election here tomorrow for presidential electors and congressmen is only nominal. The state Democratic excontrol of the state Democratic ex-ecutive committee has no doubt as to the outcome of the election and it is only a question as to the size of the Demo-cratic majority.

WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 5.—Indications point to the heavy polling of votes throughout the state tomorrow. Chairman Miller has every assurance that Bryan will undoubtedly carry the state. Chairman Dawson expresses himself equally as hopeful of the success of Me-Kinley. The Democratic organization in the state is under strong leadership. The Republicans are as well organized but local country trouble may give the legislature to the Democrats thus defeating Sanator Elkins for a second feating Senator Elkins for a second term. TEXAS.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 5.—The weather is becoming cold and cloudy and it is like-ity to be a disagreeable election day in northern Texas. The campaign has been the mildest ever known in the state. The outlook is that the Democrats will carry all the thirteen congressional districts. The vote will be lighter than in 1896. It will probably approximate 500,000 as against 545,000 that year.

WYOMING.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 5.—According to the judgment of political observers here Wyoming will be found in the Republican column this year. The Fusionists do not however concede this and the result may be considered doubtful until the polis close, J. A. Van Orsdel, chairman of the Republican state committee, predicts that if the weather tomorrow should prove pleasant Wyoming will give McKinley the largest majority in proportion to the vote cast of any state in the Union.

DELAWARE. Wilmington, Del., Nov. 5.—The day before election finds both parties confident in their claims of Delaware. On account of Republican factional divisions and the arrangement of the districts the Democrats are almost certain to carry the legislature and thus elect two United States senators. The total vote will be from 42,000 to 45,000.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence, R. L. Nov. 5.—So far as the national election in Rhode Island is the national election in Rhode Island is concerned, it is apparently as well known as it will be on the day after election that McKinley will carry the state. Rhode Island will re-elect both Republican congressmen, although the Democrats expects to cut down the plur-ality in the First district.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5.—North Carolina is conceded to Bryan. His majority is expected to reach 30,000 and may go beyond that figure. The Republicans claim the election of two of the nine congressmen tomorrow.

FINAL PARTY CLAIMS.

Chairmen of Republican and Democratic Parties Issue Manifestos.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The chairman of the Republican party today ciaims the reelection of President McKinley with 311 electoral votes and the pluralities given below. The chairman of the Democratic party makes a ciaim for Mr. Bryan of 317 votes and state pluralities as shown:

HANNA SHUTS UP SHOP. Makes His Last Speech and Leaves Chicago For Cleveland.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Senator Marcus A. Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee made his last speech of the campaign at noon today, addressing several thousand railway employes and steel workers at South Chicago. When the Illinois Central special bearing the senator and party arrived at South Chicago, the whistles of all the big mills there were blown and large crowds gathered at the depot to extend a welcome. Accompanying the senator was Richard Yates, the Republican candidate for governor of Illinois. At 5:30 p.m., Senator Hanna will leave on the Lake Shore road for Cleveland, where he will vote tomorrow, after which he will go to Canton to be the guest of the president.

Party Claims In Kansas.

Kansas will go for the Republican presidential electors by 25,000 plurality. The Republicans will elect seven congressmen sure, six district congressmen and one at large. We have better than an even chance of carrying the remaining districts. The Third is conceded by all to be close.

MORTON ALBAUGH, Chairman Republican State Committee.

The Bryan electors will carry Kansas by a plurality of 16,000 or more. The fusion forces will elect seven of the eight congressmen, the First district being conceded to the Republicans.

E. R. RIDGLEY, Chairman Populist State Committee.

I concur in Mr. Ridgley's estimates. J. MACK LOVE, Chairman Democratic State Committee.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The congressional campaign has reached a point where the only question is the size of the Republican majority. In my statement given to the press on the 27th I said the Republican membership would not be less than 187. This number I considered at the time was sure beyond any reasonable doubt. Since then conditions have continued to improve. The Croker-Jones advice to Democrats suggesting fraud by the Republicans has done us much good, for no one can point to a single instance where a Republican member has been elected by fraud either in votes cast or in the count after they were cast, while the majority of the Democratic representation in the house comes frim districts where the Republican vote is driven from the polis by the shotgus, or if in any cases it is cast it is counted for the Democratic candidate and the will of the response defeated. Chairman Babcock's View. for the Democratic candidate and the will of the people defeated. This cry of wolf, coming from the party that stands sponser for fraud of the worst type, will be resented at the polls. And I have every reason to believe that fully 200 Republicant of the control of the contro publicans will be elected to the Fifty-

Chairman Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Prohibitionists Expect 500,000 Votes
Chlcago, Nov. 5.—Mr. Woolley, our candidate for president, estimates the Prohibition vote for the whole country at 500,000. Some of our more conservative leaders say 300,000. We do not expect to elect any governors or congressmen, but we are confident of electing candidates for the legislature in several states. Illinois is one of the states which we believe will send a few representatives to the next general assembly. Four years ago the Prohibition vote in the nation was only 130,000, and in Illinois $2,800. The count next Tuesday will show 25,000. Mr. Woolley has traveled 21,000 miles and made 350 speeches. Accompanied by H. B. Metcaif, our candidate for vice president, and Oliver W. Stewart, chairman of the national committee, he visited 30 states.

MADE THE BEAR DRUNK.

[From the New York Sun.]

A party of Massachusetts sportsmen who were in this city this week on their return home from a camping trip at Crawford Pond in the Katahdin fron works region of Maine, told of an experience with a bear belonging to the owner of the camp, with whom they made their home during their two weeks visit. This bear was caught in a trap in t spring and lost his right forepaw at the ankle foint. The hunter did not kill the animal, but got a rope around his neck and led him to camp. There he built a small stockade with a little house in one corner of it, pitched an old stub of a tree in the center of the yard, hitched the bear to fit, and this place has since been bruin's home.

The hear was very savage at first, but stockade with a little house in one corner of it, pitched an old stud of a tree in the center of the yard, hitched the bear to it, and this place has since been bruin's home.

The bear was very savage at first, but soon became so tame that he would eat from the hand of the trapper and would allow one to pat and caross him. He has been one of the "sights' for people visiting Crawford Pond during the past summer. A young Harvard College student was at the camp in August, and he got so friendly with the bear that they used to have wrestling matches. The bear labored at a disadvantage on account of having lost one of his paws, and he was unable to get a very good held about the body of the student, but that made no difference; he could throw the young man every time, and the minute the wrestler would land on his back old bruin would take the other paw and begin to claw his clothes. The young man stood such treatment all right until one day the bear scratched his face and thereafter he kept away from the animal.

The Massachusetts sportsmen were obliged to remain close in camp one day during their visit on account of a heavy rainatorm. They played casino and auction-pitch until they were tired of the sight of the cards, and one of them, on seeing the bear perched on the stub of the tree in his yard, thought of a scheme which would produce some amusement.

"Lot's get the bear drunk," said he to his companions. Tree got a quart of old rye whisky in my pack, which I brought in case some of you fellows were sick. None of you have been, and as none of you entitle meal, and as far as funges. Fin in for anything."
